Threatening Conditions from Childhood to Old Age Saturday, September 22, 2018 1pm - 5pm

BIO: Dr. Brandon Steele DC, DACO

Dr. Steele is currently in private practice at Premier Rehab in the greater St. Louis area. He began his career with a post-graduate residency at The Central Institute for Human Performance. During this unique opportunity, he was able to create and implement rehabilitation programs for members of the St. Louis Cardinals, Blues, and Rams. Dr. Steele currently lectures extensively on evidence-based treatment of musculoskeletal disorders for the University of Bridgeport's diplomate in orthopedics program. He serves on the executive board of the Illinois Chiropractic Society. He is a Diplomate and Fellow of the Academy of Chiropractic Orthopedists (FACO).

Course Outline

Repeatedly hearing familiar presentations for common diagnoses can lull clinicians into a false sense of security. Even astute clinicians develop a bias toward statistically probable benign neuro-musculoskeletal diagnoses. Unfortunately, this complacency can lead to disastrous outcomes when a more threatening problem masquerades as something less serious. Participants of this class will refresh their skills for diagnosing both benign and threatening causes of common complaints for patients from childhood to old age.

Old Age and Chiropractic Care Sunday, September 23, 2018 8am - 12pm

BIO: Carlo Ammendolia DC, PhD

Dr. Carlo Ammendolia is the Director of the Spine Clinic and the Spinal Stenosis Program at the Rebecca MacDonald Centre for Arthritis and Autoimmune Diseases at Mount Sinai Hospital. He received his MSc degree in Clinical Epidemiology and Health Care Research and his PhD in Clinical Evaluative Sciences from the University of Toronto. Dr. Ammendolia is an Assistant Professor in the Institute of Health Policy, Management and Evaluation, the Department of Surgery and the Institute of Medical Sciences at the University of Toronto. In 2012, Dr. Ammendolia was recipient of the Professorship in Spine Award from the Department of Surgery in the Faculty of Medicine. In 2015, he was awarded the Chiropractor of the Year Award from the Ontario Chiropractic Association, and in 2016 the Researcher of the Year Award from the Canadian Chiropractic Association. Dr. Ammendolia has been in clinical practice for over 35 years and now combines clinical practice and research in the area of non-operative treatment of mechanical, degenerative, and inflammatory spinal disorders with a special interest in degenerative lumbar spinal stenosis.

Course Outline:

In 10–15 years, 25% of Canadians will be over the age of 65 and more than 60% of them will suffer from chronic pain. This presentation will highlight practical strategies that will help the chiropractor maximize function and reduce risk of disability in this population. This seminar will provide information on the prevalence and burden of chronic pain in older adults, highlight the challenges and complexity of managing the older population, key principles that apply to management, specific strategies for common chronic pain conditions in the elderly and provide recent data on the effectiveness of these principles as they apply to degenerative lumbar spinal stenosis. Anyone who treats older patients with chronic MSK conditions should attend this seminar. The seminar will provide you with the knowledge, skill and self-confidence to successfully manage these patients and significantly improve outcomes not only in the short-term, but also in the long-term.
